

Suriname communication base station 1 2MWh

Overview

Is TeleSUR a good telco in Suriname?

The state-owned incumbent telco, Telesur, is the only provider of fixed-line and fixed broadband services in Suriname. The country's fixed-line infrastructure is reasonably reliable in the more populated coastal region, though poor in the interior.

Why is Telesur launching a 5G network in Paramaribo?

Telesur launches its 5G network in Paramaribo, markets triple-play offering and high-volume mobile data packages; Suriname ranked 81st internationally for mobile network speeds and 158th for fixed broadband speeds; Significant recent gold and offshore oil discoveries to boost economic growth;.

Why is Suriname ranked 81st internationally?

Suriname ranked 81st internationally for mobile network speeds and 158th for fixed broadband speeds; Significant recent gold and offshore oil discoveries to boost economic growth; Report update includes recent market developments, Telecom Maturity Index charts and analyses, ITU and regulator data to 2019.

Does Paramaribo have a fibre network?

The country's fixed-line infrastructure is reasonably reliable in the more populated coastal region, though poor in the interior. Telesur started building out a fibre network in Paramaribo 2013, and in June 2018, the company started with the rollout of the National Broadband Project (TNBP), which was completed in 2019.

Suriname communication base station 1 2MWh

Contact Us

For catalog requests, pricing, or partnerships, please visit:
<https://institut3i.fr>